Your Guide to Sustainable Materials

Our company is committed to sustainability, integrating recycled materials like RPET, Ocean plastic, R-ALU, and R-SS into our products. Using RPET and Ocean plastic reduces marine pollution and waste, transforming it into high-quality products. Our use of R-ALU and R-SS minimises energy consumption and preserves resources, demonstrating our dedication to sustainable manufacturing. We aim to lead by example in sustainability, significantly reducing our environmental footprint, fostering a circular economy, and contributing to a healthier planet for future generations.

Recycled Pet RPET

RPET is plastic derived from recycled polyethylene terephthalate, commonly used in bottles and packaging, repurposed to create new products, reducing environmental impact and waste.

Ocean Waste RPET

Ocean Waste RPET is recycled plastic made from polyethylene terephthalate collected from oceans and waterways, repurposed into new products to reduce marine pollution and environmental impact.

Recycled Aluminium R-ALU

R-ALU is aluminium made from recycled scrap, requiring less energy than new aluminium production, reducing environmental impact, and conserving our planet's natural resources.

Recycled Stainless Steel R-SS

R-SS is stainless steel produced from recycled scrap, reducing energy consumption, conserving raw materials, and minimising environmental impact compared to new stainless steel production.

Your Guide to Natural Sustainable Materials

Natural sustainable materials like bamboo, wood, wheatstraw, and paper are environmentally-friendly due to being renewable and biodegradable. Bamboo grows rapidly, replenishing itself sustainably. Responsibly sourced wood stores carbon and reduces waste. Wheatstraw repurposes agricultural waste, minimising environmental impact. Paper, made from renewable resources, is recyclable and decomposes naturally. These materials reduce reliance on non-renewable resources, supporting a more sustainable and eco-conscious future.

Bamboo

Bamboo is a sustainable material, rapidly renewable, strong, durable, versatile, and biodegradable. It reduces deforestation and carbon footprint, making it a great material for the environment.

Wood

Wood is an ideal material because it's renewable, biodegradable, durable, and environmentally friendly. It enhances brand image by showcasing commitment to sustainability.

Wheatstraw

Wheatstraw is a sustainable by-product, reducing agricultural waste, being biodegradable, environmentally-friendly, and offering a renewable alternative to plastics for various products.

Paper

Paper is a great sustainable material for promotional products because it's renewable, biodegradable, customisable, and reduces environmental impact, making brands more eco-conscious.

Global Recycled Standard (GRS)

Sustainability Starts with GRS

The Global Recycled Standard (GRS) is your assurance that the writing instruments you purchase are made with recycled materials and produced sustainably. GRS is a globally recognised certification that ensures the entire supply chain adheres to stringent environmental and social criteria. This means that from the moment recycled materials are sourced to the final product, every step is meticulously monitored for quality and sustainability.

By choosing GRS-certified products, you're supporting a system that values recycling, reduces waste, and promotes ethical labour practices. Feel confident in your sustainable choices with GRS – it's not just a standard, it's a commitment to a greener future. Look out for our GRS™ icon on all of our Global Recycled Standard writing instruments.

Sustainable Packaging

The quest for sustainable packaging solutions is reshaping our industry. Traditional materials, usually plastics, are being rethought, ushering in innovative alternatives. Paper sleeves for pens, predominantly made from FSC®-certified paper, ensure the responsible management of forests while reducing waste. Card tubes for bottles, leaning away from plastic, championing a circular economy. Bespoke paper boxes, crafted from sustainable sources, merge environmental responsibility with refined aesthetics. Similarly, bespoke display cards made from FSC® paper elevate brands, conveying a commitment to sustainability. As consumer awareness grows, these packaging solutions don't just protect products; they symbolise a forward-thinking approach to our planet's well-being.

Branding Methods Explained

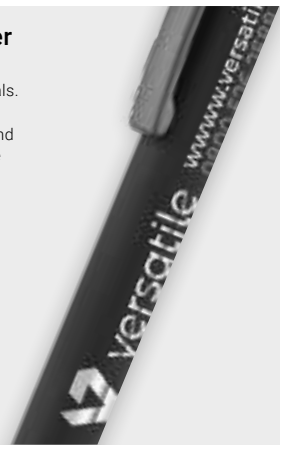

Pad Printing

Pad printing utilises a silicone-rubber pad to transfer the printing ink from an etched plate to the surface being printed. The etched areas of the plate represents the artwork that is to become the printed image. Ink is spread across the surface of the plate using a hard 'Doctor Blade' which results in the etched areas being filled with ink. This ink is then picked up by the pad and transferred to the product. The process is ideal for small print areas and where the product surface is not flat.

Laser Engraving - Fiber

This particular type of laser engraving is used to engrave metals. The process relies on a fine beam of light, collimated for precision and intensity to burn an image into the surface of the metal product. The resultant image is permanent and has a high perceived value.

Screen Printing

This utilises a metal or wooden frame that is stretched with a very fine-woven polyester mesh. The mesh is coated with a light-sensitive emulsion, exposed to film and then developed. A stencil of the artwork results and ink can be forced through the developed areas of the stencil on to the surface of the product with remarkable precision. This process is fast, inexpensive and suitable for an almost limitless range of substrates.

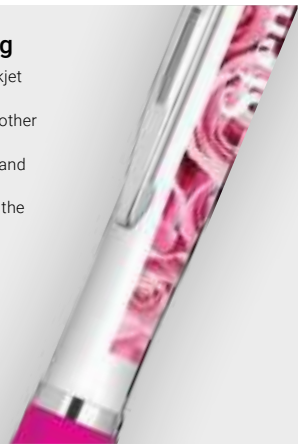

Laser Engraving - CO_2

This type of laser engraving is used to engrave plastic, leather and wood. Similar to Fiber lasers, the process relies on a fine beam of light, collimated for precision and intensity to burn the surface of the substrate. Generally, the light beam is not as fine as with Fiber lasers and they operate under completely different wave modulations to that process. It is ideal for engraving wooden pens, leather goods and rubberised aluminium pens.

Direct Digital Printing

Direct digital printing utilises inkjet technology, firing microscopic droplets of ink on top of one another to create an almost limitless spectrum of colours, gradients and shades enabling photo realistic images to be printed directly to the product surface.

Transfer Wraps

For the ultimate branding impact, we can print around the entire circumference of the barrel on many of our pens. This 360° wrap is achieved by digitally printing onto specially formulated film and then heat-transferring the image onto the product.

UltraHD

Redefining Print

A new print system for product decoration with the aim of dramatically improving both the resolution and colour gamut of the printed image.

Colour Matching on Non-White Materials

The most accurate colour matches can be achieved when Pantone references are provided and the surface being printed is white. In the absence of Pantone references, a colour swatch or previously printed sample is acceptable but colour matches are less accurate in this case. It is not possible to produce accurate colour matches on any surface that is not white. Surface colour always influences the printed colour (see adjacent image) and it is advisable to order a printed proof if the colour match is critical. If a printed proof is not ordered, we will assume that our best attempt to match the colour reference requested is acceptable to you, given the constraints or limitations of the ink system in use and the nature and colour of the surface being printed. As a general rule, orders for bright colours to be printed onto dark surfaces will be the least accurate, eg. white printed onto black will appear light grey when compared with true white and all basic Pantone colours and all central Pantone colours will appear very dull when printed onto black or coloured surfaces.

The adjacent image shows how a number of perfectly matched Pantone colours appear when printed on coloured pens. This image is a simulation of the effect but it is derived from a precision colour scan of real screen prints on real pens. Every attempt has been made to preserve the authenticity of colour balance through each of the stages of reproduction to ensure that the finished scan reflects the true nature of how Pantone colours appear on different coloured substrates. The final stage, the printing of this page, was produced using conventional litho CMYK separations and this system, whilst not ideal, is the only feasible method for reproducing such a wide variety of colour effects. Therefore the colours achieved should not be taken as precisely correct but they are very close to the original screen printed swatch and, as such, can be safely used as a guide.

Clearly, having to print Pantone colours on anything other than white is less than ideal. In reality, we usually modify colour matches to increase their opacity when overprinting non-white materials but this will always result in straying from the original Pantone reference. The resultant image may appear better than if an unmodified ink was used but it will never be an accurate Pantone match. In all cases, the colour will lose its clarity (brightness) by making it more opaque.

Metallic inks (gold and silver) have a reduced life due to their formulation. No guarantee for adhesion, chemical resistance (including perspiration) or abrasion resistance can be given on these colours. Some products can be over-varnished (at additional cost) to protect metallic colours and this should be requested in writing at the time of placing the order.
